The Innovation behind L-Fusion

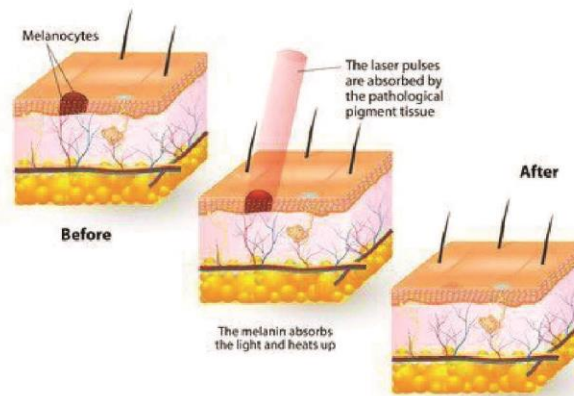

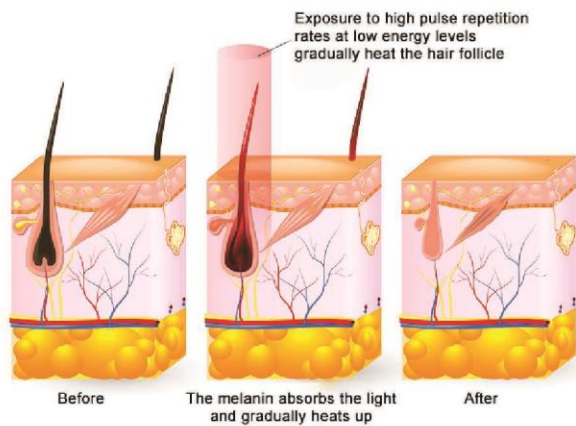

Super Hair Removal Technology (SHR)

A revolutionary method for faster, safer and pain-free hair reduction treatments for all hair and skin types.

It involves using gentle pulses of energy at a higher frequency to heat up the skin in the entire treated area to destroy the hair follicles. This process is done by using an "in-motion" technique, so rather than lasing each hair follicle individually with a high-powered beam which is painful, SHR uses lower energy with high repetition to achieve maximum results without pain. Moreover, the "in-motion" technique ensures better and more uniform coverage and minimizes the risk of burns.

Q-Switched Nd:YAG Laser

This technology is primarily used for tattoo and pigment removal but can treat other skin issues. It is a professional quality non-invasive laser that creates high-intensity pulsed beam light. The energy emitted from a Q-switched laser is concentrated into a very powerful pulse that can shatter tiny fragments of pigmentation or ink, stimulate collagen production or kill fungus, without damaging surrounding tissue or causing unwanted side effects.
